Twelve Oaks Advisors, LLC Announces Team Addition

Cumming, GA-Based Consulting Firm, Twelve Oaks Advisors Adds Digital Transformation and IT Strategist to the Team

Cumming, GA | October 26, 2017 Twelve Oaks Advisors, LLC officially announced today the addition of Greg Jungles, an accomplished CIO/CTO and technology consultant for start-up, early stage and Fortune 500 companies to the Twelve Oaks Advisors' team. Greg specializes in IT strategy, roadmap development and execution for companies facing evolutionary or competitive inflection points that require technology ecosystem transformation.

Managing Partner, Cary Green states, "Greg brings 25+ years of experience leading and transforming technology organizations, primarily in the Health IT space. He brings the "insider's" perspective to our team and knows the challenges and issues that fast-growing company executives face."

"Greg is recognized for his ability to quickly grasp a company's strategic priorities and business problems and translate those into properly aligned technology strategy, roadmaps and "right-sized" solutions. He ensures that technology solutions solve actual problems, not symptoms. As importantly, he has the rare ability to bridge the communication gap between business, vendors and IT", continued Green.

In addition to running his own Health IT management consulting practice, Jungles has most recently served as Vice President and Chief Information Officer of DaVita Rx, a $700M+ subsidiary of DaVita, Healthcare Partners. As the CIO, he led the transformation and maturation of the Information Technology department while helping to drive dramatic economic growth, exceeding 45% revenue increases for three consecutive years and a 1400% increase in operating income over the same period.

Jungles has also served as Senior Vice President of Informatics & Data Services for Alere Health, a global leader in merging rapid diagnostic devices and health information solutions and as CIO/CTO for Quality Oncology, Inc. where he was instrumental in directing this venture capital-backed start-up company from its infancy through multiple acquisitions and accelerated growth.
